

Book Homepage

The screenshot shows the book homepage with various interactive elements. A search bar at the top right allows for searching within the book. Below the book title, there are buttons to download the book as a PDF or in ePub format. A table of contents is visible, listing chapters such as 'Front Matter', 'Introduction', 'Sustainable Forestry and Conservation Objectives', and 'A Burning Issue: Tropical Forests and the Health of Global Ecosystems'. On the right side, there are 'Book Metrics' (Citations, Markeds, Reads, Downloads) and a 'MyCopy' service offering a softcover edition for 24.99 EUR/USD. At the bottom, there are social media sharing options and a 'Share' button.

1. Download book as a pdf or in ePUB
2. Search within this book
3. Table of contents with book chapters
4. View chapters
5. Look inside (preview)
6. Book Metrics
7. Order a softcover edition of book with our MyCopy service*
8. About this book
9. Share book via social media outlets

*Only available in 30 countries

Online training resources
are available on
springernature.com/forlibrarians

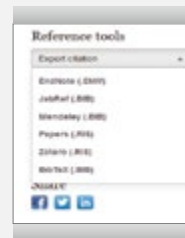

Book Chapter Page

The screenshot shows the book chapter page. At the top, there are buttons to download the book or the chapter as a PDF. The chapter title and author information are displayed. Below the title, there is an abstract. On the right side, there are 'Chapter Metrics' (Reads, Downloads) and a 'MyCopy' service offering a softcover edition for 24.99 EUR/USD. At the bottom, there are social media sharing options and a 'Share' button.

1. Download Book and Chapter (PDF)
2. Look inside (preview)
3. Chapter Metrics
4. Abstract
5. View Chapter in HTML Full text format
6. Reference Tools
 - Export citation
 - Add to papers
7. Supplementary material
8. References
9. About this chapter

Citations

Book citations can be exported in the following formats:

Journal citations can be exported in the following formats:

SpringerLink

Quick Reference Guide

Getting Started

The screenshot shows the Springer Link homepage. Callout 1 points to the search bar. Callout 2 points to the user navigation area (Sign up, Log in, English, Academic edition). Callout 3 points to the 'Browse by discipline' menu. Callout 4 points to the search bar. Callout 5 points to the settings gear icon. Callout 6 points to the 'Browse by discipline' menu. Callout 7 points to the 'Featured Journals' section.

Go to link.springer.com

1. Log in to be a recognized user
2. Select a language

Searching & Browsing

The Homepage is divided into three parts:

3. Content available by content type
4. Search bar visible on each page with easy search functionality with fast & easy Google-like auto-suggest
5. Advanced search and help functionality can be accessed by clicking the settings wheel
6. Browse functionality by subject area or discipline
7. Featured journals and books

Online training resources
are available on
springernature.com/forlibrarians

Browse by Discipline or Content Type

The screenshot shows the 'Browse by Discipline' page. Callout 1 points to the 'Browse by discipline' menu. Callout 2 points to the 'Browse 10,212,844 resources' section. Callout 3 points to the 'Articles' row in the content type table.

Content Type	Count
Articles	5,913,640
Chapters	3,746,456
Reference Work Entries	508,618
Protocols	44,121

1. Browse content by discipline. Click on the discipline of interest and you will end up on the search results page, showing all content available in that field
2. You can also browse by content type
 - Journals and articles
 - Books, chapters and series
 - Reference works and reference work entries
 - Protocols

Search Results Page/Related Documents

The screenshot shows the search results page for 'Related Documents'. Callout 1 points to the search bar. Callout 2 points to the 'Sort By' dropdown. Callout 3 points to the 'Related Documents' section. Callout 4 points to the 'Download PDF' button. Callout 5 points to the 'RSS Feed' button. Callout 6 points to the 'Content Type' filter. Callout 7 points to the 'Sort By' dropdown. Callout 8 points to the 'Date Published' filter.

1. RSS Feed
2. DL Search results as CSV File
3. Type of Content
4. Download PDF

Refine Your Search

5. Uncheck the include preview-only content box if you prefer to see only the content accessible by your institution. By default you see all results displayed
6. The left navigation bar shows the following predefined filter options:
 - Content type
 - Discipline
 - Sub discipline
 - Language
7. Sort results by relevance, newest first or oldest first
8. Search for documents within specific year(s)

Journal Homepage

The screenshot shows the journal homepage for 'Analytical and Bioanalytical Chemistry'. Callout 1 points to the search bar. Callout 2 points to the 'Browse Volumes & Issues' button. Callout 3 points to the 'Latest Articles' section. Callout 4 points to the 'Journal Metrics' section. Callout 5 points to the 'Stay up to Date' section. Callout 6 points to the 'About this Journal' section.

1. Search within this journal
2. Browse volumes & issues
3. List of latest articles
4. Journal metrics and content coverage
5. Stay up to date with journal updates
6. About this journal

Journal article page

The screenshot shows the journal article page for 'Feasibility of solar tents for inactivating weedy plant propagative material'. Callout 1 points to the 'Download PDF' button. Callout 2 points to the 'Export citation' button. Callout 3 points to the 'Share article' button. Callout 4 points to the 'Results' section. Callout 5 points to the 'Authors and affiliations' section.

1. Simple one-click button for easy PDF download
2. Citation export and citation formats supported
3. Share article via email and popular social media outlets
4. Quick links to different components found within article, including
 - About this article
 - References which include links to Cross-Ref and PubMed where available
 - Supplementary materials
5. Authors and affiliations