

Deinotherium levius* and Tetralophodon longirostris (Proboscidea, Mammalia) from the Late Miocene hominid locality Hammerschmiede (Bavaria, Germany), and their biostratigraphic significance for the terrestrial faunas of the European Miocene

George E. Konidaris^{1,2,*}, Thomas Lechner^{2,3}, Panagiotis Kampouridis³, Madelaine Böhme^{2,3}

¹Palaeoanthropology, Institute for Archaeological Sciences, Department of Geosciences, Eberhard Karls University of Tübingen, Rümelinstr. 23, 72070 Tübingen, Germany;

²Senckenberg Centre for Human Evolution and Palaeoenvironment, Tübingen, Germany;

³Terrestrial Palaeoclimatology, Department of Geosciences, Eberhard Karls University of Tübingen, Sigwartstraße 10, 72074 Tübingen, Germany; * Corresponding author;

georgios.konidaris@uni-tuebingen.de

Online Resource 4. 3D renderings and additional CT-scan slices of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5.

Fig. S1. 3D rendering of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 in dorsal view. Scale bar equals 10 cm.

Fig. S2. 3D rendering of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 in ventral view. Scale bar equals 10 cm.

Fig. S3. 3D rendering of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 in front view. Scale bar equals 10 cm.

Fig. S4. 3D rendering of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 in right lateral view. Scale bar equals 10 cm.

Fig. S5. 3D rendering of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 in left lateral view. Scale bar equals 10 cm.

Fig. S6. 3D rendering of the left hemimandible of Deinotherium levius (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5 showing the dp2 alveolus, and the dp3–dp4 in occlusal view. Scale bar equals 5 cm.

Fig. S7. CT-scan slices of the Deinotherium levius mandible (SNSB-BSPG-2020-XCV-0096) from Hammerschmiede 5. a. Parasagittal slice of the right hemimandible showing the dp2 alveolus, and the dp3–dp4. b. Parasagittal slice of the left hemimandible. c. Transverse slice of the mandible showing the lower tusks inside the symphysis.