

The above shows semi-log plots of fit functions to data. The GPC function is in blue. The earliest portion 25-30 s of that function is zero. A y-axis zero cannot be shown on a semi-log plot. The biexponential fits to the data are shown as dotted red lines, and the data as black circles. Note that the biexponentials underestimated each last sample.