

Supplementary Figure S1

Supplementary Figure S1: Principal component analysis (PCA) assessing potential batch effects. PCA was performed on the study samples, with each point representing an individual sample. Samples are coloured by batch. The absence of distinct clustering by batch indicates no substantial batch effects.