The groups were run continuously on the same gel. In our study, five groups were used, but only four groups are included in the manuscript. The original Western blot image for the fifth group is attached here for reference; however, this group has not been included in the manuscript, and the corresponding data are not presented in the final version of the paper. In the first figure, the group numbers are labeled, and this labeling order applies consistently to all images.

Black lines indicate cropped boundaries between lanes from the same continuous gel.
