

Underground hibernation in a primate

Marina B. Blanco^{1,2*}, Kathrin H. Dausmann², Jean F. Ranaivoarisoa³ & Anne D. Yoder^{1,4}

¹Duke Lemur Center, 27705 Durham, USA

²Department of Animal Ecology and Conservation, University of Hamburg, 20146 Hamburg, Germany

³Department of Biological Anthropology and Paleontology, University of Antananarivo, 101 Antananarivo, Madagascar

⁴Department of Biology, Duke University, 27708 Durham, USA

*Correspondence to marina.blanco@duke.edu

Video Captions

Video 1: Crossley's dwarf lemur is retrieved from underground hibernaculum at Tsinjoarivo forest.

Video 2: Sibree's dwarf lemur is retrieved from underground hibernaculum at Tsinjoarivo forest.