

Additional file 3:

Representative response pattern of nestlings to feeding stimulus. Shown is the response during 10 seconds following a stimulus (first very short and broadband sound) after 60 minutes of food deprivation. Call 'intensity' decreases after an initially rigorous response. To measure the need of nestlings, we were mostly interested in the maximum response.

