

TB suspected cases based on clinical symptoms

Ziehl Neelsen staining microscopy

At least two negative sputum smear microscopy

Chest X Ray abnormalities consistent with active TB

Decision by a clinician to treat with a full course of anti-TB chemotherapy or no specific anti-TB treatment

Screen TB diagnosis, after 15 days

Two positive sputum smear microscopy

Chest X Ray abnormalities consistent with active TB

Decision by a clinician to treat with the standard anti-TB treatment