

Supplementary Figure 1: Panther-based classification of protein class for candidate lung cancer markers (n=179). The 12 most common categories are plotted, each representing at least 2% of the total number of proteins.