

Additional file 8 Expression levels of individual transcripts found to represent annotated factors related to the production of reactive oxygen species (ROS) in units of transcripts per million (TPM) for each experimental snail. Heatmap shows the variation for each factor using the dynamic range. Transcripts related to each factor are clustered according to their similarity.