

Additional file 1

Figure S1. Example of a directed acyclic graph used to identify the minimal set of confounders to be included in the model of total effect of housework activities performed by mothers on their family life satisfaction

