

After imaging the GSDMB signal, we treated the same PVDF membrane with a stripping buffer to remove the bound primary and secondary antibodies. The membrane was then re-blocked and re-probed following the standard procedure for β -Actin. Therefore, the GSDMB and β -Actin signals were obtained sequentially from the same membrane. In addition, we have uploaded the raw, uncropped Western blot image files for your review.

Figure 11B

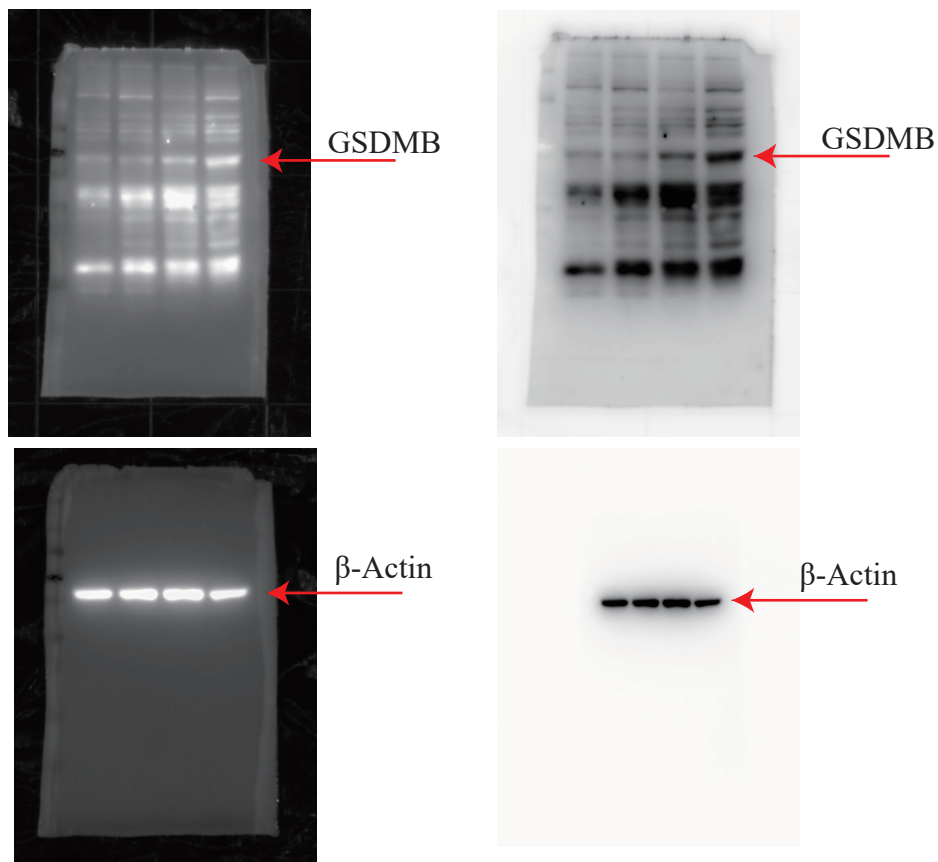

Figure 11C

