

Welcome

SSRP has been a mainstay program at Hawai'i Pacific Health (and at Kapi'olani Medical Center for Women & Children, Pali Momi Medical Center, Straub Hospital & Clinic, and Wilcox Memorial Hospital) for over 25 years. It's geared toward helping undergraduate students interested in medical careers learn more about medicine. The program is highlighted by working with a physician on a clinical research project. The byproduct is an inside look at medicine as a career.

Many of you have continued into medicine as your career and others have decided otherwise. We ask your cooperation in completing this survey. It will help us evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of our program to improve it for future students. Your updated information is important so we can keep in touch.

We need your input for those that choose to follow your path towards a medical career.

Thank you in advance.

Wishing you and your family happy holidays!
