

Conversations on living and dying: facilitating advance care planning for community-dwelling older people living with frailty

Focus Group topic guide

The aim of the focus group is to gain feedback on the participants' experience of using the intervention in practice. This data collection method will complement the questionnaires by allowing for a broader, richer and deeper discussion regarding acceptability.

The following topic guide will be used to guide discussions:

- How did you find the intervention in practice?
- What worked? (were there any facilitators?)
- What did not work as well? (were there any barriers?)
- Did you feel confident using the intervention?
- Did you feel the intervention was effective?
- Do you think anything should be added to, or changed in, the intervention to make it better?
- Do you think anything should be removed from the intervention to make it better?
- Did you find the training appropriate?
- How could the training be improved?
- Is there anything else that you think would help facilitate advance care planning with older people living with frailty in the community?

There may also be a deeper discussion of any of questionnaire 2 responses as relevant
