

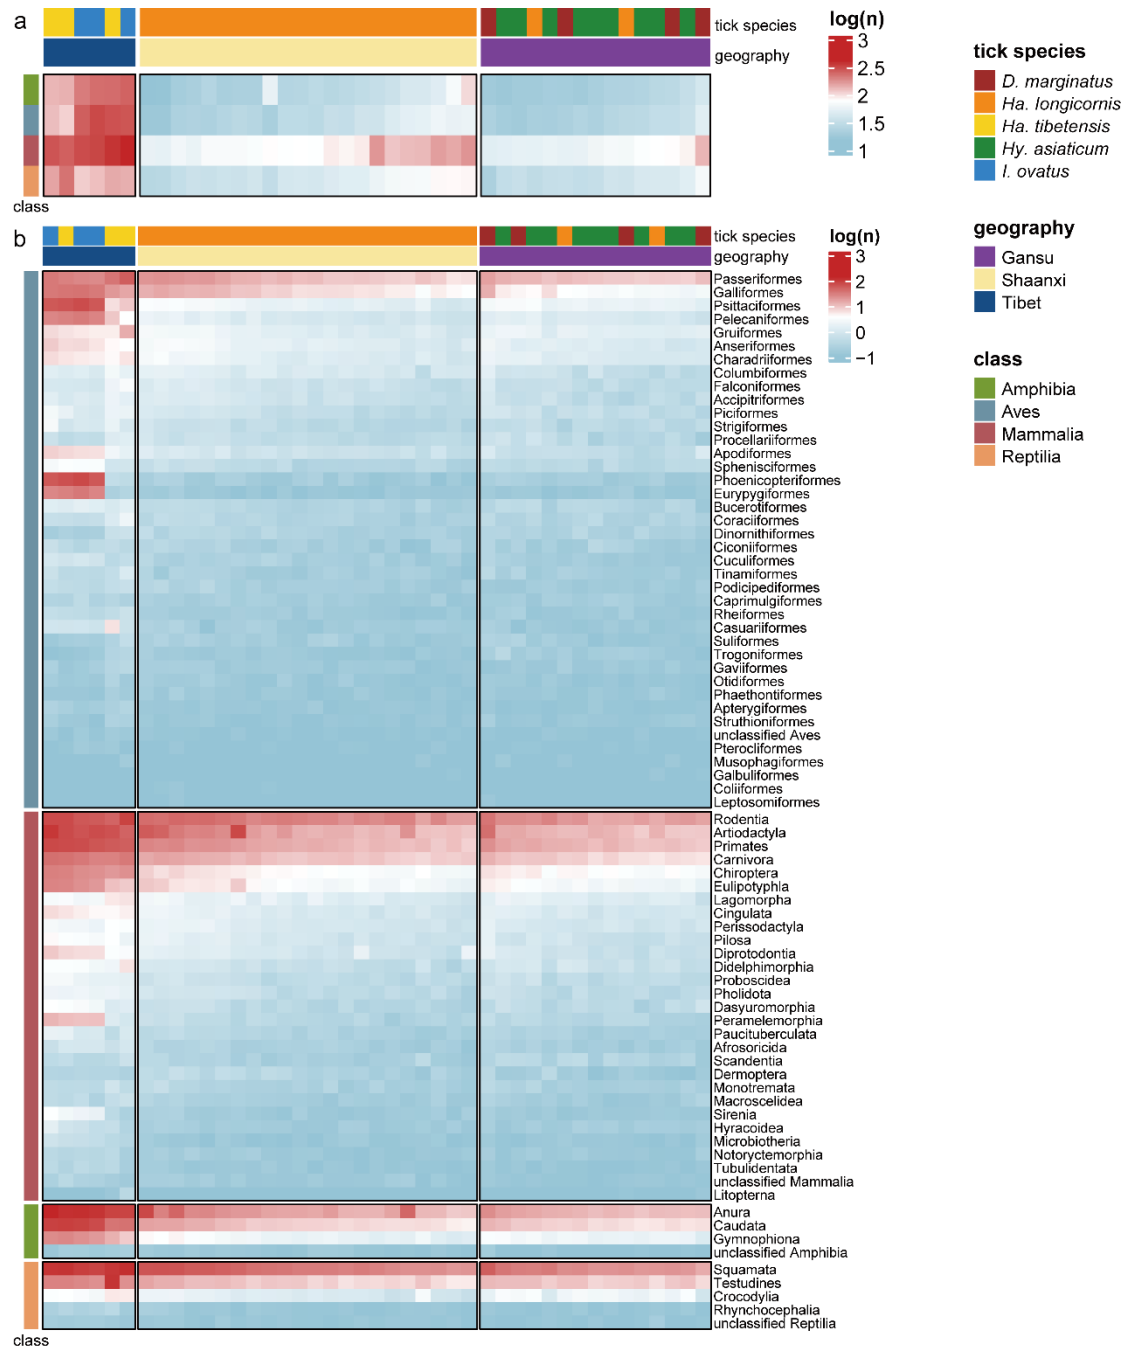

Figure S1 The abundance of blood-feeding hosts in ticks' life cycle. (a) The abundance of blood-feeding hosts which classified in class, calculated as $\log$ (reads per million clean reads), with each vertical column representing a sampling pool. (b) The abundance of blood-feeding hosts which classified in order, calculated as $\log$ (reads per million clean reads), with each vertical column representing a sampling pool.