

Additional file 7. Stem segments incubated for longer than five days following control treatment (boiling or liquid nitrogen immersion) tended to deteriorate, showing evidence of microbial growth.

