

Title: Application of fed-batch strategy to fully eliminate the negative effect of lignocellulose-derived inhibitors in ABE fermentation

Barbora Branska*, Kamila Koppova, Marketa Husakova, Petra Patakova

Supplementary Figure 1:

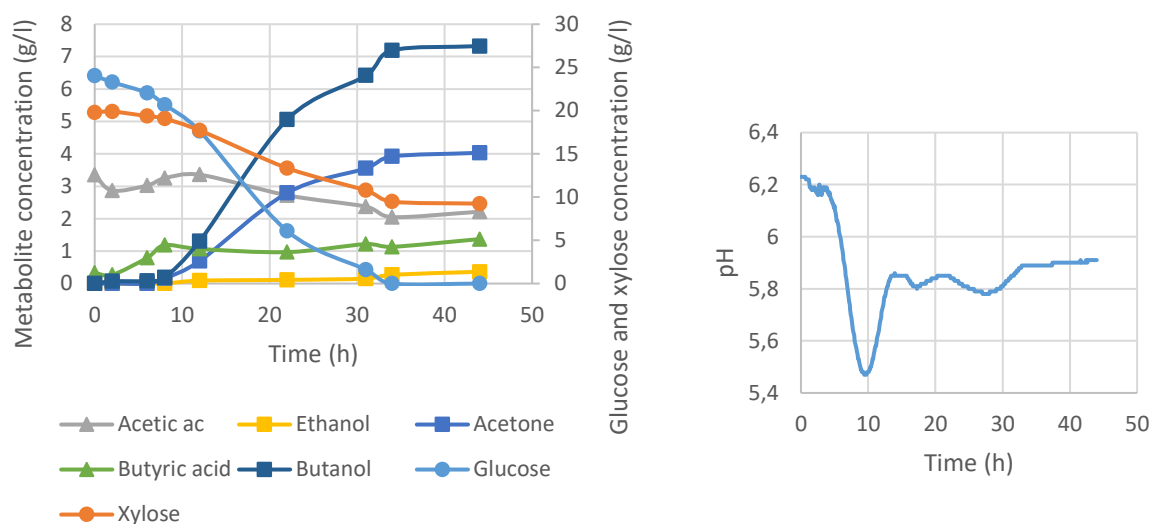

Figure S1: Concentration of glucose, xylose and metabolites (left) and pH changes (right) during batch cultivation using TYA medium and a mixture of glucose and xylose 25:15 in the same volume and bioreactors where experiments with lignocellulose were conducted.