

Supplementary Fig. 6. Depicting the Process That Individual Gal-3KO Myoblasts Form a Myotube
 The largest myotubes identified by single-cell tracking in each treatment were selected, and the myoblasts that formed these myotubes were identified. Myoblasts entering the image frame from outside during the experiment were excluded. Each myoblast and the resulting myotube formations were outlined at every time point.