

Additional file 1 Magitchlie Creek Fire, Innoko National Wildlife Refuge, Alaska, USA, on 26 June 1997. Fire was concentrated in slightly raised black spruce islands within a matrix of low-lying sphagnum moss. Note the lack of consumption of the sphagnum moss “sea,” which is normally covered by standing water. Photo credit: S. Drury.