

WE NEED YOU!

Are you interested in representing your school community? Are you passionate about making change in your school?

JOIN US!

Your school is taking part in the collaborative between the School District of Philadelphia and Temple University to improve student participation in school meals and we need you! We are looking for students, parents, teachers, food service staff, climate staff, and administration who are interested in representing their school in this collaboration and providing feedback to the school meals program at your school.

- 3 after-school meetings
- Create strategies to improve student participation in school meals.
- Collaborate with RISE team on strategies and provide feedback

Receive compensation
of $25
for your participation in each meeting

